Why teach at Colfe's?

Share your passion. Inspire others. Develop your career.

Teaching is a career like no other, every day is different. Being part of a school community is like being part of a family – a uniquely rewarding experience.

Colfe's is a vibrant, and forward-thinking school. Our pupils are happy, independent and ambitious. They study everything from Physics to Philosophy, Classics to Computer Science, Photography to Politics. They perform in plays and concerts, compete in Maths Olympiads and French debating competitions. They take part in trips from the Globe theatre to the ruins of Pompeii. They achieve outstanding exam results.

They couldn't do any of these things without our teachers. Our teachers inspire our pupils, and we want to inspire teachers.

We offer in-house Apprenticeship teacher training for talented graduates (2.1 and above) in many subject areas. You can become a qualified teacher through our graduate training programme, with mentoring and full formal training leading to a QTS and PGCE – all while receiving a salary.

The support and experience we provide helps many of our programme graduates go on to positions of leadership early in their careers.

"I was so impressed by the variety of the agenda. It was absolutely brilliant to speak to so many different teachers and staff members at different levels and in different areas, and to students. The Taster Day gave us the opportunity to experience three different lessons, alongside lots of information provided during the presentations and talks."
